

10 April, 2011

Professor Zhang Xian'en, Director-General, Department of Basic Research of the Ministry of Science and Technology, visited our University on April 7-9, 2011, and delivered a seminar on National Strategic Basic Research ("973" Programme).

In the seminar, Professor Zhang talked about recent development of China's strategic basic research and how basic research is conducted to meet the needs of China. He focused on policies and application procedures of the "973" programme.